

I. Data Licensing

All IPC results are licensed under Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial-Share-Alike 3.0 IGO (CC BY-NC-SA 3.0 IGO) and can be reused under these terms.

To view a copy of this license, visit <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/3.0/igo/> and <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-sa/3.0/igo/legalcode>.

Please include the following information while attributing IPC results:

IPC, License: CC BY-NC-SA 3.0 IGO, [date the data was last updated] (in the following format DD-MM-YEAR) and provide a link to IPC website <https://www.ipcinfo.org/>

If you wish to obtain rights beyond the ones granted by the CC license or if you have any doubts on the type of use allowed under this licensing, please contact us.

IPC results are shared under a non-commercial license. The IPC GSU has made provisions for the following exceptions to the Non-Commercial attribute:

IPC GSU allows for IPC results to be used for non-profit fundraising purposes. This covers the process of soliciting donations or voluntary financial contributions by non-profit organizations with the aim of supporting humanitarian and development projects or activities.

If you have any doubt on the use of our data under this intended use, please contact us.

For any other commercial use, please contact us and provide a detailed explanation of the intended use. We will get back to you as quickly as possible.

Finally, the IPC is guided by humanitarian principles<sup>1</sup>. It does not endorse any use of its data for activities that would go against such principles, especially “Do No Harm”. The IPC rejects and forbids any use of its data for military purposes.

We encourage all IPC results Users to carefully weigh the implications of datasets aggregation (including with non-IPC datasets) and disaggregation; understanding the risks of potential de-anonymisation of data and at-risk groups identification.

IPC GSU platforms include data that are provided by third-party, such as the Cadre Harmonisé, which may not be redistributed or reused without the consent of the original data provider, or may be subject to terms and conditions which are different than those of IPC GSU.
